HEALING DIALOGUES & MUSIC
HEALING HISTORY
October 21-25, 2015, BUDAPEST,

We are dedicated to contribute to a growing movement to heal the traumas, wounds and hurts deeply rooted in our collective psyche and upsurge at times of stress, conflict and major difficulties. Due to global crises of environmental, social and spiritual we need to have a mindful presence in all our individual and collective actions. Thus we host healing dialogues and invite people from elsewhere in the world who also dedicate their skills and competencies to similar causes.

HEALING OUR PAST AND HOSTING A NEW FUTURE

HEALING DIALOGUES
HEALING MUSIC

Years ago, at the 70th anniversary of holocaust in Hungary, there is a revisiting of our deep past and many views and concepts, pains and hurts, wounds and traumas have come up to the surface. All related to the absurdities of the past 100 years. This year “the flood of refugees to Europe, also right across our country has enlarged the tension. We need dialogue to heal, to learn, to understand.

REASON
Nations, like individuals and relationships, need help processing their history, particularly traumatic experiences. Living now doesn’t mean history or trauma is gone, but instead tends to re-play themselves and influence the present. Its We might seek for solutions, but we are frozen in silence that stops us from interacting. Throughout Europe we see the rise of anti-semitism, anti-immigrant, and anti-muslim feelings. The fear of difference is increasing and a sense of “us” and “them” is escalating.

CITY DIALOGUES
are based on the assumption that energy is blocked and withheld not only in individuals but places and spaces as well.

Bohmean and world café dialogues hosted in and around the city and we welcome local people and stories and musicians in our healing processes. It also may well empower the field of our work in the more intense psychology seminar of HH, or offers opportunity for those to connect who cannot or do not want to dive deep in the PoP work.

HEALING HISTORY
Is based on WorldWork, which is the group aspect of Process oriented Psychology (POP) founded by Arnold Mindell. POP is a holistic methodology working with individuals, relationships, and systems in very different areas. It attempts to find meaning in experiences without pathologizing them. The central principle is that there is a hidden wisdom in what is happening; if we follow nature with wareness we will find a seed for resolution in every problem.

We give tools for dealing with strong emotions still present in the background that can't yet come out, and this repression helps to create a cycle of silence and depression.

“...I want to work. It’s hard for human nature to make a real confession of all that we’ve done. The Danube, which is our past, our present and our future, has pulled us in, tenderly, as its swift waters run. From the blood of our fathers shed in former wars flows peace, a common memory and mutual regard, a promise of order, a tolerant way to live. This is our task. It will be hard.'

Attila József, from At The Danube

DIALOGUE HOSTS

Agota E. Ruzsa

“Healing the past and birthing a new future is our task at present.”

Judit Szentirmai

“I just do what needs to be done. And this is our task now, so let us do it together.”

Nora Ganescu

“I was born in Transylvania (Romania), the multi-cultural epicenter in Europe. All my life I've been bringing together different people and helping them understand, respect and learn from each other. ”

Eszter Kéthelyi

“We are prisoners of the past living in the Here&Now. How can we give birth to a shared and positive future that is thriving without fear and pain?”

We, in Hungary started social healing by integrating dialogue and emotional work so that we move into deeper dimensions in our wounded selves which are highly challenged by the times we are living in. We need to weave a new societal tapestry of relationships by hosting healing spaces for us all.

ARIADNE GAIA is a foundation, established in 1989 to enhance the personal, national and global transformation that was about to happen by bridging gaps between the West and East, the feminin and the masculine, people and people, Mother Earth and Humanity. The past 25 years have also deepened the gaps between and among members of society, people and nature, humans and the devine.

Process Oriented Psychology based WorldWork

“World Work is processwork applied to small and large groups, communities and organizations, international events and earth based problems.” A. Mindell

While there is a strong emergence of human goodwill, we do need to learn to enhance it by healing the personal, the national and the global. The World café community has been dedicated to this purpose for 20 years.

WISDOMWEAVERS is our partnership project with all who share the vision and offer spaces and processes that may serve the societal transformation into wholeness.

It is my belief that whereas the twentieth century has been a century of war and untold suffering, the twenty-first century should be one of peace and dialogue. As the continued advances in information technology make our world a truly global village, I believe there will come a time when war and armed conflict will be considered an outdated and obsolete method of settling differences among nations and communities.

“Healing History 2014 in Bonn was an incredibly deep experience for me. Gary supported me in working with my trans-generational and collective trauma related to the Holocaust experiences of my Jewish ancestors. I felt witnessed and held. Clean and clear, trusting each other, without shame. We moved to that space “beyond the stories” where new possibilities can emerge and manifest.”

(a participant of Healing History 2014)

Healing dialogues have brought us together in a way that generated a space of transformation and social healing.

(Healing History 2014)

Dialogue is a means to learn to suspend our judgements, dive deep into the collective and create space for the flow of meaning.

D. Bohm
